

Customers take the biscuit at Beales Hotel

Gemma Holden (left) and Katie White have been tempting customers with cookies!

The Sales team at Beales Hotel have been seeing stars before their eyes after hand decorating nearly 1,000 cookies.

Aiming to give customers an early taste of Christmas Gemma Holden and Katie White have been delivering glittery cookie baskets to clients old and new this month.

“I know it may seem a bit early to be promoting Christmas but in the hospitality trade we are always looking at least three months ahead. We have some fantastic events over Christmas and our Robbie Williams tribute nights are selling like hot cakes, excuse the pun!” said Events Manager Gemma.

Beales Hotel Head Chef Diego Granada made the mouth watering cookies which Gemma and Katie then decorated and wrapped by hand.

“We had edible glitter everywhere for a few days but customers have really appreciated our efforts. Someone has mentioned Easter but I am not sure I can face a thousand eggs just yet!” added Gemma.
